

Soluciones Examen Inglés Evau Ordinaria 2021

TEXTO A

Is the Full Stop no Longer Necessary?

The full stop has been used for centuries to end sentences, but its use is changing. As Generation Z – teenagers or those in their early twenties – have grown up in the age of instant messaging, the punctuation mark is no longer commonly used. Linguists from across the world have been investigating the purposefulness of the full stop as communication habits have evolved, and some of them think people simply do not put full stops in unless they want to make a point.

Dr Fonteyn tweeted: If you send a text message without a full stop, it's already obvious that you've concluded the message. "So, if you add that additional marker for completion, they will read something into it, and it tends to be a falling intonation or negative tone." The full stop is "intimidating" to young people who interpret it as a sign of anger.

According to The Telegraph, linguists are divided on whether the full stop has become redundant given that text messages are concluded by pressing "send" so there is arguably no need for the full stop. In 2015, a study from Binghamton University suggested that people who finish messages with full stops are perceived as insincere. The study involved 126 undergraduates and the researchers concluded that text messages ending in the most final of punctuation marks were perceived as being less sincere. Unusually, texts ending in an exclamation point are deemed heartfelt or more profound.

Research leader Celia Klin said: "When speaking, people easily convey social and emotional information with eye gaze, facial expressions, tone of voice and so on. People obviously can't use these mechanisms when they are texting. Thus, it makes sense that texters rely on what they have available to them – emoticons, deliberate misspellings that mimic speech sounds and, punctuation."

Adapted from "Full stop is 'intimidating' to young people who interpret it as a sign of anger, linguists say." The World News, August 24, 2020

QUESTIONS

A.1.- Are the following statements TRUE or FALSE? Copy the evidence from the text. No marks are given for only TRUE or FALSE. (Puntuación máxima: 2 puntos)

a) According to the text, several researchers consider that people use the full stop when they want to highlight something.

TRUE "... some of them think people simply do not put full stops in unless they want to make a point."

b) Youngsters think using a full stop shows someone is quite annoyed.

TRUE “ The full stop is “intimidating” to young people who interpret it as a sign of anger”

A.2.- In your own words and based on the ideas in the text, answer the following questions. Do not copy from the text. (Puntuación máxima: 2 puntos)

a) What is the difference between ending messages with a full stop or an exclamation mark?

If you end a message with a full stop people may think it is not sincere, whereas ending with an exclamation mark may sound more profound.

b) Why do people use emojis when they are messaging online?

People use emoticons when messaging online to replace facial expressions and the tone of voice.

A.3.- Find the words in the text that mean:

a) behaviours (paragraph 1) habits

b) clear (paragraph 2) obvious

c) include (paragraph 2) add

d) indicated (paragraph 3) suggested

(Puntuación máxima: 1 punto)

A.4.- Complete the following sentences. Use the appropriate form of the word in brackets when given.

a) Youngsters who are used to communicating (communicate) electronically break up their thoughts by sending each one as a separate message, rather than using a full stop.

b) The full stop derives from Greek punctuation which was introduced (introduce) by Aristophanes of Byzantium in the 3rd century BC.

c) The slightest (slight) mistake in punctuating a clause in a contract can have massive unintended consequences. Punctuation matters (matter).

d) If I were you, I would show (show) how brilliant I am by manipulating the language on the internet.

(Puntuación máxima: 2 puntos)